Rev. F. Forster returned home last Wednesday from attending the annual Methodist conference sessions held at Edmonton. The adherents of Lomond circuit will be pleased to know that Mr. Forster has been retained on this appointment for another year. The three years he has been at Lomond have been the most trying the country has experienced and his labors have been of the most trying nature. It is only fitting that he should be permitted to enjoy the most evident turn in events.

On Sunday evening, June 17th, Prof. Ottewell, director of the Department of Extension in the Alberta University, will address the congregation in the Lomond Church. Prof. Ottewell is speaking at several neighboring points while in the district and is the night attraction at the U.F.A. district convention being held at Retlaw on Tuesday, the 19th.

The Lomond Local U.F.A. is calling a meeting for Saturday evening, the 16th, to arrange a delegation for the Retlaw district convention.

Mrs. E. M. Nelson has gone to the home of her parents at Orion.

Mrs. Orbie Baker is spending a couple of weeks with her sister, Mrs. Geo. D. Salter, at Nanton. Miss Pederson drove over to Nanton with her spending the week-end there.

We understand the Alberta Government Telephones proposes to construct the west district rural lines and connect them with the Lomond exchange this summer.

The ladies of the Lomond U.F.W.A. are arranging to hold their annual picnic at the home of Mrs. John Hartwick on Wednesday afternoon, July 11th.

Mrs. Sarah Smith of Drumheller, president of the Alberta Rebekah Assembly, will visit Primrose Rebekah Lodge, No. 61, at Lomond, in her official capacity on Tuesday evening, June 19th. All Rebekahs are urged to be in attendance.

The Lomond Consolidated School Board has extended an invitation to the staff as a whole to remain for another year. So far, we understand, only Miss Pederson and Miss Ball have expressed their willingness to stay.

W. A. Teskey has been kept busy with his Samson road drag on the municipal and town grades. The result is very soothing to motorists.

FOR SALE.—Quantity of furniture and household goods.—Apply Mrs. A. Wegsberg.

The A.P.P. barracks is undergoing a general overhauling and renovation. The office has been changed to the billiard room and the exterior painted to an eloquent sea green.

The oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leonard was taken seriously ill, the symptoms pointing to appendicitis or peritonitis. W. A. Teskey drove Mrs. Leonard and the boy to the Lethbridge hospital Thursday night.

W. J. Clements and W. B. Manning are in Calgary this week attending the sessions of the Alberta Masonic Grand Lodge as delegates from the Lomond Lodge.

J. M. McArthur of Medicine Hat, superintendent of the Medicine Hat division of the C.P.R., came up as far as Lomond today in an auto coaster. He came in to see if The Press was still publishing, an unfailing custom that affords the editor much pleasure. He expressed great delight in the outlook for the entire Medicine Hat division, as this is the first really favorable season experienced since he was transferred from Kenora to the Hat. The company is rushing maintenance work in order to take care of what traffic might be offered. He was accompanied on this trip by Trainmaster McLean, Div. Engineer Ruggles, Bridge and Building Master English and Roadmaster Deharnias, all of Medicine Hat.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Teskey and Helen, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williamson and Wendel, Mrs. O. R. Olson, Mrs. C. R. Adams and Miss Ball were among the Lomond visitors in Calgary city over the week end.

Johnny Holo and Little Isaacson have bought up ten car loads of cattle in the Vulcan district.

Elvin Benson says he did not enjoy the trip The Press gave him to B. C., as all the travelling he did was around his home field on the plow. The information came to hand in a casual way the error is regretted.

Let us weep! Oleomargarine is to be banished from Canadians. So sayeth the Ottawa law makers. We never considered it as a legitimate competitor to butter. Butter at current prices needs no vaseline to relieve the financial strain upon the consumer. There is lots of butter, but we could do with more soap.

The Vulcan Chautauqua is on this week and patrons say that this year's program is better than ever.

Vulcan and Enchant are advertising sport celebrations for Monday, July 2.

Mrs. Gordon Elliott and baby are home from Calgary, the child having undergone successfully the first of a series of surgical operations upon its eyes.

The government of the province of Alberta has appointed Rae L. King of Lomond as Justice of the Peace.

Jas. Henderson arrived home from the Nordegg coal mines last week, where he enjoyed a successful season's mining operations.

T. A. Kennedy and Dad Crum are cleaning up on all the scrap iron in the country.

The minutes of the last municipal council meeting will be published in the next meeting.

As there is but one grade eleven pupil writing from Lomond, that being Mary Maronda, she goes to Enchant to write her departmental examinations.

The exams start the nineteenth and continue till the 24th. The grade eights write at Lomond beginning the twenty-fifth with but four papers to write and eight candidates writing. The grade nine papers are set by the principal. The grade ten exams will be written at Lomond.

A. J. Imeslund who has been in ill health for some months has gone to St. Paul, Minn., to reside for a time. His daughter, Mrs. O. Lundsted, came up from that city to accompany him to her home. They left on the Wednesday morning train.

NOTICE OF MEETING.—To all those whose names appear on the Chautauqua guarantee, notice is hereby given that a meeting will be held in the Municipal Office, Lomond, on Friday evening, June 22nd, at eight o'clock.

The rainfall was well reflected at the big bailliff sale held at Bow City this afternoon. Horses went as high as a hundred and ten dollars and all the small stuff was picked up at good prices. Cattle were the poor sellers.

Some of the best wheat fields in this district display a remarkably even stand about twelve inches high with that broad, healthy, dark green leaf that makes one's blood tingle when looking across the field.

The Editor Goes a' Holidaying

After jamming six days' work into three, we, the Editor, grabbed our old kit bag, crammed in a change in underclothing, our last presentable shirt, our Christmas necktie and a few clean collars and made a rush for train connections leading to Jasper Park, where the Alberta and British Columbia weekly editors were scheduled to meet in convention.

Our wife has persistently tried to persuade us that this habitual last-minute rushing performance is an unsatisfactory characteristic peculiarly attributable to our own personality. But when the clan converged upon Edmonton all manner of apologies and explanations were extended from nearly every individual on the train. So, falling into the miserable contentment of company, we made haste to prepare a presentable toilet on the Pullman that pulls into Jasper at 8 a.m.

Jasper Lodge is 235 miles west of Edmonton on the Canadian National Railway. It was the formal opening of this new mountain retreat that prompted the railway officials to capitalize the press convention into a gigantic advertising medium. The results were most enjoyable to the press party.

We would like to believe that the spirit of hospitality extended we editors by the officials of the railway companies, Jasper Park and the wonderful Lodge, is significant of the Canadian people as a whole. It is a truly great attribute, this ability to dispense the graces of hospitality without ostentation and at the same time maintain a dignity in keeping with an organization such as the Canadian National Railways.

Jasper Lodge is a rustic affair designed to entertain some two hundred and fifty guests. Lying as it does three miles from Jasper station, the guest finds himself amidst almost undisturbed natural mountain surroundings. The Lodge proper overlooks the mirrored waters of beautiful Lac Beauvert. Dry statistics are not interesting and seldom convey a mental picture in keeping with the figures used. We will confine our remarks to comparative dimensions. The dining room will seat the full quota of guests without crowding. The table service is excellent. All white help, from the cook (chef) up, attractive linen, Haviland china and Rogers silver plate. The lounge room is practically of the same capacity and luxuriously appointed. The verandah on these two wings is the social centre for lady visitors. Sleeping quarters are arranged within the two dozen cottages placed here and there throughout the grounds. All buildings are of peeled log construction and the main building contains the most interesting decorative effect through the use of abnormal and peculiar tree growths. An accomplished orchestra provides entertainment at meal hours and plays for the nightly dance.

For a variation there is fishing, boating and mountain trails by motor and pony.

To give an idea of the character of mountain scenery to be found in the park, one only needs to add that Mt. Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, rises to its vast proportions as one of the show window attractions from Jasper Lodge.

The entire effect is very restful. It is indeed a retreat. As was remarked on the grounds, the Lodge as an institution for entertainment is complete within itself. The guest is practically immune from other temptations in the spending of money.

Touching on the convention sessions, we had some interesting debates, three or four instructive lectures by headlights in the profession, a banquet and its entertaining accompaniments, a dance, and a special scenic drive tendered by the Lodge officials. While a good deal of the routine business was more or less of a technical nature, the public might be interested to learn that the public

Guaging the rainfall from May 20th, the Lomond District has received about eight inches of moisture. This has been very general, though some parts of the district got more than others. Great impetus was given to hail insurance prospects through the visitation of hail on Tuesday afternoon. The brunt of that storm broke at Enchant, though continuing strong up this far. Windows and ruberoid roofing suffered to a large extent, and it is said that where the hail fell hardest the grasshoppers are practically wiped out. The rye crops suffered but it is generally conceded that they will come on again better than ever. Some newspapers within the province have attempted to estimate the value of the recent rains in round millions of dollars, but to The Press this expresses but little. We have not yet devised a system of measures, weights and valuations to determine the worth of the sense of security to fathers and mothers and business men, nor the worth of environment to all people but to children particularly when surrounded by evidences of progress and success, not the intrinsic value of possible educational and social advantages, nor the worth of a host of other things that might be recorded. It is sufficient to say that the change has at last come. It is up to us to make capital out of it.
